

Real Rights: young people engaging with law enforcement

 Providence, Rhode Island

The Real Rights project has been developed by Baker McKenzie and the Global Initiative on Justice with Children to provide young people – especially young people of colour, minority and vulnerable populations – with specific guidance for interactions with law enforcement. Thanks to the Real Rights project and the pro bono work of over 1,500 volunteer professionals, we have created a clear and accessible data base of answers to child questions when they are in contact with the police – from initial contact, questioning, to stop and report.

Stopped By The Police On The Street, Now What?

Proposed Information

It is important to follow this advice:

- Stay calm. It is not a good idea to run. Speak carefully and clearly. Anything you say can be used against you in a court of law.

See e.g., Miranda v. Arizona, 384 U.S. 436 \(1966\); R.I. Gen. Laws § 12-7-10; R.I. Gen. Laws § 11-32-1; Juvenile Operations, Providence Police Department § 370.01
- It is not a good idea to touch the officers. Keep your hands where the police can see them.

- It is not a good idea to resist, even if you're innocent or if you think the police are acting unfairly or unlawfully.

See e.g., R.I. Gen. Laws § 12-7-10; R.I. Gen. Laws § 11-32-1; Juvenile Operations, Providence Police Department § 370.01

Can the police arrest you for refusing to answer questions?

No, you are not required to speak with police. You have the right to remain silent. See e.g., 5th Amendment; Malloy v. Hogan, 378 U.S. 1, pg. 1 \(1964\)

It should be noted that you must identify yourself (your name, address, and what you're doing) to a law enforcement officer if asked. You risk arrest if you fail to identify yourself in a situation where the police reasonably believes that you are involved in criminal activity or if they believe that you are a threat to public safety. However, you can tell the officer you wish to exercise your right to remain silent under the 5th Amendment. See e.g., Hiibel v. Sixth Judicial District Court of Nevada, Humboldt City, 542 U.S. 177, pg. 1 \(2004\); R.I. Gen. Laws § 12-7-1

What if the officers do not identify themselves?

Providence police officers do not need to identify themselves if you have been stopped or detained. However, they are required to have their identification badges on display. You can ask if they are police and to show their ID cards and badges as well. See e.g., Personnel Identification, Providence Police Department § 210.01

What if an officer just begins speaking to me but does not order me to do anything?

You are not required to speak with the police. If an officer begins speaking to you, you do not need to respond. You have the right to remain silent. See e.g., 5th Amendment; Malloy v. Hogan, 378 U.S. 1, pg. 1 \(1964\)

Can I tell police I do not want to speak without a lawyer?

Yes, you have the right to have a lawyer present during questioning, and one can be provided to you if you can't afford one. Any information you talk with your lawyer about will be kept private by your lawyer. See e.g., 6th Amendment; Gideon v. Wainwright, 372 U.S. 335 \(1963\)

In addition, you are not required to speak with police. You have the right to remain silent. See e.g., 5th Amendment; Malloy v. Hogan, 378 U.S. 1, pg. 1 \(1964\)

If the police start questioning you without telling you your rights (known as a Miranda Warning), then they can't use anything you say as direct evidence against you in court. See e.g., Miranda v. Arizona, 384 U.S. 436 \(1966\)

If I sit down, am I resisting?

Yes. You cannot sit down to avoid arrest or prevent the officer from doing his job in any way. The officer may view this as passively refusing arrest, thereby interfering with governmental operations. See e.g., R.I. Gen. Laws § 12-7-10; R.I. Gen. Laws § 11-32-1; Juvenile Operations, Providence Police Department § 370.01

If I am stopped in a group, and some kids run, can I run?

No, you cannot run from the officer if you think you are about to be arrested, even if others in your group run. Even if you are not being arrested, running from law enforcement is a bad idea. Doing so could give the officer the belief that you have been, are, or will be involved in criminal activity. See e.g., R.I. Gen. Laws § 12-7-10; R.I. Gen. Laws § 11-32-1; Juvenile Operations, Providence Police Department § 370.01

Can I tell others (siblings, for example) to run?

No, you cannot tell someone else to run from the police. This may be viewed as interfering with an arrest. In addition, doing so could give the officer the belief that you have been, are, or will be involved in criminal activity. See e.g., R.I. Gen. Laws § 12-7-10; R.I. Gen. Laws § 11-32-1; Juvenile Operations, Providence Police Department § 370.01; R.I. Gen. Laws § 11-1-4

If the officer's language is not my first language, can I tell them without waiving my rights?

Yes, you can tell the officer that the officer's language is not your first language. This will not waive your rights if you tell the officer immediately after that you wish to remain silent. You are entitled to an interpreter for interactions between you and the police/court. See e.g., 5th Amendment; Malloy v. Hogan, 378 U.S. 1, pg. 1 \(1964\); Limited English Proficiency Police, Providence Police Department § 510.03

You also have the right to have an attorney present during questioning, and one can be provided to you if you can't afford one. Any information you talk with your lawyer about will be kept private by your lawyer. See e.g., 6th Amendment; Gideon v. Wainwright, 372 U.S. 335 \(1963\)

When Can Police Search Your and Your Surroundings?

Proposed Information

It is important to follow this advice:

- You have the right to say no to searches of yourself.
- You have the right to say no to searches of your car, house, or other things you own or control.
- You cannot be arrested for refusing to consent (give permission) to a search without a warrant.
- A warrant is an official document from the court that allows police to search you or your belongings without your consent.

See e.g., 4th Amendment; R.I. Gen. Laws § 12-5-3

- Police can conduct a brief search and can continue to conduct the search.

See e.g., Riley v. California, 573 U.S. 373, pg. 28 \(2014\); R.I. Gen. Laws § 12-7-2; Search & Seizure, Providence Police Department § 330.03

What if a police officer wants to search my phone?

Officers are prohibited from conducting unreasonable searches and seizures. Unreasonable can refer to anything that is inappropriate, aggressive, over the top, or harmful to you or anyone involved. See e.g., 4th Amendment; Rhode Island State Constitution, Article I § 6

When related to an arrest, Utah police must obtain your permission, a warrant from the court, or have an exigent circumstance for a search before a phone or another hand-held device can be opened and searched. See e.g., Riley v. California, 573 U.S. 373, pg. 28 \(2014\); R.I. Gen. Laws § 12-5-3; R.I. Gen. Laws § 12-7-2; Search & Seizure, Providence Police Department § 330.03

What if they tell me to give them my password or other access to my phone?

You do not have to provide your password (this includes your fingerprint or face scan) unless the police have a warrant from the court. You may refuse to hand your phone over or provide a password to it, even if you are being arrested, so long as the police do not have a warrant from the court for the search of your phone. To give your password, fingerprint, or face scan is to give your consent; you can revoke your consent at any time during the search. See e.g., Riley v. California, 573 U.S. 373, pg. 28 \(2014\); R.I. Gen. Laws § 12-5-3; Search & Seizure, Providence Police Department § 330.03

In addition, officers are prohibited from conducting "unreasonable" searches and seizures. Unreasonable can refer to anything that is inappropriate, aggressive, over the top, or harmful to you or anyone involved. See e.g., 4th Amendment; Rhode Island State Constitution, Article I § 6

What tools can police use to search me? What technology? (Facial recognition, hidden cameras, finger print searches, etc.)

Police may use any tools that are not considered "unreasonable" to search you for evidence, as officers are prohibited from conducting "unreasonable" searches and seizures, Unreasonable can refer to anything that is inappropriate, aggressive, over the top, or harmful to you or anyone involved. See e.g., 4th Amendment; Rhode Island State Constitution, Article I § 6

Police can, with a warrant, reasonable belief, or upon arrest, take fingerprints of you and cross check them against a database. See e.g., Davis v. Mississippi, 394 U.S. 721, 727 \(1969\); Search and Seizure, Salt Lake City Police Department § 311.12

The Providence Police Department is permitted to record all public interactions using body cameras. Police may also use hidden surveillance cameras in certain locations around cities, particularly in intersections. See e.g., Body-Worn Camera \(BWC\) Program, Providence Police Department

NOTE: As of October 2022, The U.S. Supreme Court has yet to decide whether the 4th Amendment prohibits the use of body and surveillance cameras. However, lower courts that have heard the case have ruled in favor of the federal government's support of them. See e.g., United States v. Tuggle, 4 F.4th 505 \(7th Cir. 2021\); United States v. Mancari, 463 F.3d 590 \(7th Cir. 2006\); Bills v. Aseltine, 958 F.2d 697 \(6th Cir. 1992\); United States v. Taketa, 923 F.2d 665 \(9th Cir. 1991\)

Can they search my backpack or other item I am carrying?

The police cannot search your backpack or any other item you're carrying without your permission or permission from the court, known as a warrant. You can withdraw your consent at any time, but until you do, the police can continue to conduct the search. See e.g., 4th Amendment; R.I. Gen. Laws § 12-5-3; Search & Seizure, Providence Police Department § 330.03

Police could also pat down your clothing if they "reasonably" believe that you have a weapon, and that someone's safety may be at risk because of that weapon. If you are under 18 years old, it is illegal to carry a firearm in public or anywhere else where you do not have permission. See e.g., Terry v. Ohio, 392 U.S. 1 \(1968\); R.I. Gen. Stat. § 11-47-33; R.I. Gen. Laws § 12-7-2

If you are arrested, the officer may search you and your belongings, as they have probable cause to do so. This may include your backpack if it is within arm's reach, or you are wearing it at the time. This may also include your vehicle if it's within your vicinity at the time of searching, or if you are driving it at the time of searching. See e.g., United States v. Robinson, 414 U.S. 218, pg. 1 \(1973\); Rhode Island State Constitution, Article I § 6

Can they take my picture or record me?

Yes. The Providence Police Department is permitted to record all public interactions using body cameras. Police may also use hidden surveillance cameras in certain locations around cities, particularly in intersections. See e.g., Body-Worn Camera \(BWC\) Program, Providence Police Department

NOTE: As of November 2022, The U.S. Supreme Court has yet to decide whether the 4th Amendment prohibits the use of body and surveillance cameras. However, lower courts that have heard the case have ruled in favor of the federal government's support of them. See e.g., United States v. Tuggle, 4 F.4th 505 \(7th Cir. 2021\); United States v. Mancari, 463 F.3d 590 \(7th Cir. 2006\); Bills v. Aseltine, 958 F.2d 697 \(6th Cir. 1992\); United States v. Taketa, 923 F.2d 665 \(9th Cir. 1991\)

Reasons Police May Detain or Arrest You

Proposed Information

It is important to follow this advice:

- The police may arrest or detain you because they suspect you of committing (or having committed) a violation of the law, or if they suspect that you currently have evidence of a crime.

See e.g., Terry v. Ohio, 392 U.S. 1 \(1968\); R.I. Gen. Laws § 12-7-1; R.I. Gen. Laws § 12-7-4

- Sometimes police have a warrant for an arrest. You should be clear on what kind of warrant is being presented to you if that is the case.
- It is a good idea to review any paper from police/warrant carefully, to ensure you understand what exactly is covered.

See e.g., R.I. Gen. Laws § 12-6-7.1; R.I. Gen. Laws § 12-5-3

- If arrested, you may be charged with a felony for a more serious crime (with potential jail time of one year or more), a misdemeanor for a less serious crime (with jail time of less than one year) or a violation.
- If the police arrest you, they also have the right to search you. Anything found during this search may be used as evidence against you.

See e.g., United States v. Robinson, 414 U.S. 218, pg. 1 \(1973\); Search & Seizure, Providence Police Department § 330.03

What if I did not do anything illegal, must I speak with the police and answer questions?

No, you are not required to speak with police. You have the right to remain silent. See e.g., 5th Amendment; Malloy v. Hogan, 378 U.S. 1, pg. 1 \(1964\)

You also have the right to have an attorney present during questioning, and one can be provided to you if you can't afford one. Any information you talk with your lawyer about will be kept private by your lawyer. See e.g., 6th Amendment; Gideon v. Wainwright, 372 U.S. 335 \(1963\)

It should be noted that you must identify yourself (your name, address, and what you're doing) to a law enforcement officer if asked. You risk arrest if you fail to identify yourself in a situation where the police reasonably believes that you are involved in criminal activity or if they believe that you are a threat to public safety. However, you can tell the officer you wish to exercise your right to remain silent under the 5th Amendment. See e.g., Hiibel v. Sixth

What if they tell me something they are investigating that is wrong? Must I correct them?

No, you are not required to speak with police. You have the right to remain silent. However, you should correct the officer whenever the officer misunderstands anything you say, or you tell the officer something that is incorrect. Failing to do so is illegal and punishable under state law. See e.g., 5th Amendment; R.I. Gen. Laws § 11-32-2; R.I. Gen. Laws § 12-7-4

You also have the right to have an attorney present during questioning, and one can be provided to you if you can't afford one. Any information you talk with your lawyer about will be kept private by your lawyer. See e.g., 6th Amendment; Gideon v. Wainwright, 372 U.S. 335 \(1963\)

What is the legal difference between talking to them if they do not tell me I am under arrest, versus after they inform me that I am under arrest?

In either scenario, you are not required to speak with the police, and have a right to remain silent. If the police start questioning you without telling you your rights (known as a Miranda Warning), then they can't use anything you say as direct evidence against you in court. See e.g., Miranda v. Arizona, 384 U.S. 436 \(1966\); State of Rhode Island Juvenile Standards § V.3; Juvenile Operations, Providence Police Department § 370.01

The Difference Between Police TELLING Me What To Do And Asking Me To Do Something

Proposed Information

It is important to follow this advice:

- The Constitution prevents you from being searched in unreasonable circumstances. See e.g., 4th Amendment; Mapp v. Ohio, 367 U.S. 643, IV-V
- You do have to identify yourself to the police when asked. See e.g., Hiibel v. Sixth Judicial District Court of Nevada, Humboldt City, 542 U.S. 177, pg. 1 \(2004\); R.I. Gen. Laws § 12-7-1
- You can refuse to consent to a search, despite what a police officer may say. See e.g., R.I. Gen. Laws § 12-5-3

What is the difference between the police deciding to search me or my belongings (phone, person, backpack) and me agreeing to the search?

The police cannot search your belongings without your permission or permission from the court, known as a warrant. You can withdraw your consent at any time, but until you do, the police can continue to conduct the search. See e.g., 4th Amendment; R.I. Gen. Laws § 12-5-3; Search & Seizure, Providence Police Department § 330.03

In addition, officers are prohibited from conducting "unreasonable" searches and seizures. Unreasonable can refer to anything that is inappropriate, aggressive, over the top, or harmful to you or anyone involved. See e.g., 4th Amendment; Rhode Island State Constitution, Article I § 6

You cannot be forced to give any government or law enforcement official testimony (evidence) that could incriminate you in court. See e.g., 5th Amendment; Malloy v. Hogan, 378 U.S. 1, pg. 1 \(1964\)

What if they tell me to give them information versus them asking and me providing answers voluntarily?

In either case, you are not required to speak with or provide any information to police. You have the right to remain silent. See e.g., 5th Amendment; Malloy v. Hogan, 378 U.S. 1, pg. 1 \(1964\)

You also have the right to have an attorney present during questioning, and one can be provided to you if you can't afford one. Any information you talk with your lawyer about will be kept private by your lawyer. See e.g., 6th Amendment; Gideon v. Wainwright, 372 U.S. 335 \(1963\)

Do Police Need A Warrant To Arrest You?

Proposed Information

It is important to follow this advice:

- No. Police officers can legally arrest you without a warrant in several circumstances:
 - When the crime is committed in front of the police officers; or
 - When the officer has probable cause (reason to suspect) that the suspect committed a felony, whether or not the act was done in front of them.

See e.g., R.I. Gen. Laws § 12-7-4

If I did not do anything, can they stop me?

Yes, for up to two hours. For a police officer to stop you, they must have a reasonable suspicion that you have been, are, or will be involved in criminal activity. Whether or not there is a reasonable suspicion depends on the situation, so it can be hard to determine if police are allowed to do so. Regardless of whether the officer is allowed to stop you or not, it is a bad idea to resist. See e.g., Terry v. Ohio, 392 U.S. 1 \(1968\); R.I. Gen. Laws § 12-7-1; R.I. Gen. Laws § 12-7-10; R.I. Gen. Laws § 11-32-1; Juvenile Operations, Providence Police Department § 370.01

Can I ask for the reason they stopped me?

Providence police officers do not need to explain you have been stopped or detained. However, they are required to have their identification badges on display. You can ask if they are police and to show their ID cards and badges as well. See e.g., Personnel Identification, Providence Police Department § 210.01

Can I advocate for another young person stopped by police if we are stopped together?

Advocating for another young person stopped by police is risky, as you can be arrested for interfering with law enforcement in any way. See e.g., R.I. Gen. Laws § 12-7-10; R.I. Gen. Laws § 11-32-1; Juvenile Operations, Providence Police Department § 370.01

However, you do have the right to observe and record what is taking place, so long as it does not interfere with law enforcement in any way. See e.g., R.I. Gen. Laws § 11-35-21

If I think the stop is unjustified, what can I do?

If you believe your rights have been violated during your interaction with law enforcement, you can file a written complaint with the Providence Police | Civilian Complaint Form. In addition, you are not required to speak with police or answer any questions they might ask you. See e.g., 5th Amendment; Malloy v. Hogan, 378 U.S. 1, pg. 1 \(1964\)

However, resisting police is never a good idea, as you can be arrested for interfering with law enforcement in any way. See e.g., R.I. Gen. Laws § 12-7-10; R.I. Gen. Laws § 11-32-1; Juvenile Operations, Providence Police Department § 370.01

Can I get the officer's identifying information for a future complaint?

Providence police officers do not need to identify themselves if you have been stopped or detained. However, they are required to have their identification badges on display. You can ask if they are police and to show their ID cards and badges as well. If you believe your rights have been violated during your interaction with law enforcement, you can file a written complaint with the Providence Police | Civilian Complaint Form. See e.g., Personnel Identification, Providence Police Department § 210.01

How Do You Know If You Are Under Arrest?

Proposed Information

It is important to follow this advice:

- You are under police custody if you do not feel free to leave an officer's presence, or if a reasonable person in your shoes would not feel free to leave.
- If the following happens, you are likely under arrest under the law:
 - an officer handcuffs you;
 - an officer forcibly holds you down;
 - an officer puts you into the back seat of a police car; or

See e.g., R.I. Gen. Stat. § 12-7-8; Juvenile Operations, Providence Police Department § 370.01

 - an officer warns you about your rights.

- An officer must only warn you of your rights before the police question you. This means an officer can arrest you before warning you of your rights.
- An arrest without a Miranda Warning is still a valid arrest; it just may mean that evidence collected from it is not admissible in court later.

See e.g., Miranda v. Arizona, 384 U.S. 436 \(1966\); State of Rhode Island Juvenile Standards § V.3; Juvenile Operations, Providence Police Department § 370.01

What if I do not know if I am under arrest?

You can ask the officer if you are being detained, being arrested, or are free to leave. If you are being detained/arrested and are unable to leave, it is not a good idea to resist. See e.g., R.I. Gen. Laws § 12-7-10; R.I. Gen. Laws § 11-32-1; Juvenile Operations, Providence Police Department § 370.01

In either case, you are not required to speak with or provide any information to police. You have the right to remain silent. See e.g., 5th Amendment; Malloy v. Hogan, 378 U.S. 1, pg. 1 \(1964\)

What is the difference between detention and arrest?

Detention refers to when law enforcement holds you under reasonable suspicion for the purposes of questioning or conducting a brief search of you and your possessions if they believe you are a threat to public safety. See e.g., R.I. Gen. Laws § 12-7-1; R.I. Gen. Laws § 12-7-2

Arrest refers to when law enforcement holds you under probable cause, meaning that the officer has evidence of or more than a reasonable belief that you have been, are, or will be involved in criminal activity. See e.g., R.I. Gen. Laws § 12-6-7.1; R.I. Gen. Laws § 12-7-4

If I am handcuffed, am I arrested?

Not necessarily. An officer may use nondeadly force (which presumably includes handcuffs) to stop and detain a person, including a brief detention. A police officer can also put you into handcuffs if they think it's necessary for their safety, even if they don't put you under arrest. See e.g., R.I. Gen. Stat. § 12-7-8; Juvenile Operations, Providence Police Department § 370.01

If my liberty is restricted, am I under arrest?

If the restriction on liberty is significant, likely yes. You are deemed to be in custody when you are deprived of your freedom of action in any significant way. See e.g., Miranda v. Arizona, 384 U.S. 436 \(1966\)

However, your liberty can also be restricted if you are being detained by police, not arrested. This detention can take many forms. See e.g., United States v. Hensley, 469 U.S. 221 \(1985\); R.I. Gen. Laws § 12-7-1

For example, the officer can ask for your identity, to which you must identify yourself (your name, address, and what you're doing) to a law enforcement officer if asked. You risk arrest if you fail to identify yourself in a situation where the police reasonably believes that you are involved in criminal activity or if they believe that you are a threat to public safety. However, you can tell the officer you wish to exercise your right to remain silent under the 5th Amendment. See e.g., Hiibel v. Sixth Judicial District Court of Nevada, Humboldt City, 542 U.S. 177, pg. 1 \(2004\); R.I. Gen. Laws § 12-7-1

Police could also pat down your clothing if they "reasonably" believe that you have a weapon, and that someone's safety may be at risk because of that weapon. If you are under 18 years old, it is illegal to carry a firearm in public or anywhere else where you do not have permission. See e.g., Terry v. Ohio, 392 U.S. 1 \(1968\); R.I. Gen. Stat. § 11-47-33; R.I. Gen. Laws § 12-7-2

What To Do After Being Warned of Your Rights

Proposed Information

It is important to follow this advice:

- You can use your right to remain silent or any of your other rights (e.g., the right to an attorney) by saying that you want to use that right.
- You are also able to waive your rights (that is, not use them) by, for example, saying 'Yes, I understand my rights but I am ready to talk to you.' This is not a good idea without a lawyer present.
- Make sure you know what you're doing in giving up your rights

See e.g., 5th Amendment; 6th Amendment; Miranda v. Arizona, 384 U.S. 436 \(1966\); State of Rhode Island Juvenile Standards § V.3; Juvenile Operations, Providence Police Department § 370.01

How do things change if I am read my rights by police?

If the police start questioning you but haven't read you your Miranda Rights (right to remain silent, right to an attorney, etc.), then they can't use anything you say as direct evidence against you in court. Only after they read you your rights can they use anything you say against you in court. See e.g., 5th Amendment; 6th Amendment; Miranda v. Arizona, 384 U.S. 436 \(1966\); State of Rhode Island Juvenile Standards § V.3; Juvenile Operations, Providence Police Department § 370.01

Does it matter where I am when the police read me my rights? (street, station, police car, etc.)

No. You must be read your rights upon arrest, no matter where you are being arrested. See e.g., Miranda v. Arizona, 384 U.S. 436 \(1966\); State of Rhode Island Juvenile Standards § V.3; Juvenile Operations, Providence Police Department § 370.01

Police Questioning You

Proposed Information

It is important to follow this advice:

- You are not required to make a statement, answer police questions or participate in a police investigation, and you never have to go anywhere with the police unless they have arrested you.

See e.g., 5th Amendment; Malloy v. Hogan, 378 U.S. 1, pg. 1 \(1964\)

- If police have arrested you and if you are under the age of 18, police are required to immediately notify your parent, caretaker or legal guardian.

See e.g., State of Rhode Island Juvenile Standards § V.3; Juvenile Operations, Providence Police Department § 370.01

Am I required to make a statement?

No, you are not required to make a statement. You have the right to remain silent. See e.g., 5th Amendment; Malloy v. Hogan, 378 U.S. 1, pg. 1 \(1964\)

You also have the right to have an attorney present during questioning, and one can be provided to you if you can't afford one. Any information you talk with your lawyer about will be kept private by your lawyer. See e.g., 6th Amendment; Gideon v. Wainwright, 372 U.S. 335 \(1963\)

Must police notify my guardian?

If you are taken into custody, law enforcement must try to notify your parent(s) or guardian as soon as possible. Otherwise, you can still request that they do so. See e.g., State of Rhode Island Juvenile Standards § V.3

Prior to any questioning, criminal delinquent juveniles will be read their Miranda Rights by the detaining member or an appointed interpreter, if a language barrier exists, to ensure that the constitutional rights of the juvenile are protected. No questions will be asked of the juvenile until the juvenile is properly represented by a parent, guardian, or legal counsel. Of note, this rule only applies when a juvenile is in custody. See e.g., Juvenile Operations, Providence Police Department § 370.01

Must I confess?

No, you are not required to make a statement. You have the right to remain silent. See e.g., 5th Amendment; Malloy v. Hogan, 378 U.S. 1, pg. 1 \(1964\)

You also have the right to have an attorney present during questioning, and one can be provided to you if you can't afford one. Any information you talk with your lawyer about will be kept private by your lawyer. See e.g., 6th Amendment; Gideon v. Wainwright, 372 U.S. 335 \(1963\)

What adults can I ask to be with me?

If you are taken into custody, law enforcement must try to notify your parent(s) or guardian as soon as possible. Otherwise, you can still request that they do so. See e.g., State of Rhode Island Juvenile Standards § V.3

You also have the right to have an attorney present during questioning, and one can be provided to you if you can't afford one. Any information you talk with your lawyer about will be kept private by your lawyer. See e.g., 6th Amendment; Gideon v. Wainwright, 372 U.S. 335 \(1963\)

Who do police have to contact if I am a legal minor?

If you are taken into custody, law enforcement must try to notify your parent(s) or guardian as soon as possible. Otherwise, you can still request that they do so. See e.g., State of Rhode Island Juvenile Standards § V.3

You also have the right to have an attorney present during questioning, and one can be provided to you if you can't afford one. Any information you talk with your lawyer about will be kept private by your lawyer. See e.g., 6th Amendment; Gideon v. Wainwright, 372 U.S. 335 \(1963\)

How do I Contact A Lawyer and When?

Proposed Information

It is important to follow this advice:

- You should always contact a lawyer before making any statements to anyone in a criminal case or investigation.
- This applies even if you are told that (i) police officers only want to question you and/or (ii) you are only a witness.
- While you do have to wait until you attend court to get a lawyer appointed if you cannot afford your own lawyer, you should still ask for a lawyer as soon as you are questioned or arrested by the police. If you are arrested, you have the right to remain silent and to not speak until your lawyer is present.

See e.g., 6th Amendment; Gideon v. Wainwright, 372 U.S. 335 \(1963\)

What if I am just a witness?

If you are just a witness, police may still question you. Police can demand identification, to which you must identify yourself (your name, address, and what you're doing) to a law enforcement officer if asked. You risk arrest if you fail to identify yourself in a situation where the police reasonably believes that you are involved in criminal activity or if they believe that you are a threat to public safety. However, you can tell the officer you wish to exercise your right to remain silent under the 5th Amendment. See e.g., Hiibel v. Sixth Judicial District Court of Nevada, Humboldt City, 542 U.S. 177, pg. 1 \(2004\); R.I. Gen. Laws § 12-7-1

However, you do have the right to remain silent, to which you should tell the officer you are exercising this right if so. See e.g., 5th Amendment; Malloy v. Hogan, 378 U.S. 1, pg. 1 \(1964\)

You also have the right to have an attorney present during questioning, and one can be provided to you if you can't afford one. Any information you talk with your lawyer about will be kept private by your lawyer. See e.g., 6th Amendment; Gideon v. Wainwright, 372 U.S. 335 \(1963\)

Furthermore, if you are a witness to a crime, then you may be ordered to come to court to testify. You will be asked to swear under oath that what you say is true. Making a false sworn statement that you do not believe to be true is known as perjury, which is also a crime. See e.g., R.I. Gen. Laws § 11-33-1; R.I. R. Evid. 603; R.I. R. Evid. 614

Do Police Always Have To Tell The Truth?

Proposed Information

It is important to follow this advice:

- No. The police may lie to you during the course of an investigation, including lying about the strength of the case they have against you and particular evidence they have in their possession.
- Sometimes police will lie to try and get you to talk more.

See e.g., United States v. Russell, 411 U.S. 423 \(1973\)

Can the police lie to me?

Yes, the police can lie to you. The police cannot physically hurt you, threaten you or use drugs to try to make you confess to something or to obtain information from you. See e.g., United States v. Russell, 411 U.S. 423 \(1973\)

Do I have to tell the police the truth?

Yes, lying to the police could result in you being charged with a crime. You risk arrest if you provide false information to law enforcement. See e.g., R.I. Gen. Laws § 11-32-2; R.I. Gen. Laws § 12-7-4

However, you do have the right to remain silent, to which you should tell the officer you are exercising this right if so. See e.g., 5th Amendment; Malloy v. Hogan, 378 U.S. 1, pg. 1 \(1964\)

You also have the right to have an attorney present during questioning, and one can be provided to you if you can't afford one. Any information you talk with your lawyer about will be kept private by your lawyer. See e.g., 6th Amendment; Gideon v. Wainwright, 372 U.S. 335 \(1963\)

What can I do as a minor without my parent(s) or legal guardian(s)?

Proposed Information

It is important to follow this advice:

Minors have the same rights under the law as adults during criminal detainments, arrests, and investigations. As a result, as a minor, you have the right to remain silent and the right to an attorney. See e.g., 5th Amendment; Malloy v. Hogan, 378 U.S. 1, pg. 1 \(1964\); 6th Amendment; Gideon v. Wainwright, 372 U.S. 335 \(1963\)

Your ability to afford a private lawyer is based off the financial situation of your parent(s) or guardian. If they cannot afford one, or if they are not available to you, you must be provided a lawyer by the government. In addition, if you are facing neglect in any way or have no adult figure (parent/guardian) in your life, you have the right to a court-appointed attorney guardian ad litem, an advocate that will serve to provide context to the court about your situation. See e.g., R.I. Gen. Laws § 14-6.2-1

If you believe that your rights were violated in any way by law enforcement, regardless of if you are a minor or not, you can file a complaint about officer behavior to the Providence Police | Civilian Complaint Form. You can also consider reaching out to the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) or the U.S. Department of Justice. Additionally, organizations like the ACLU specialize in assisting with discrimination claims.
